

FRENCH CROSS RHINE: SEIZE HARBORS

What's Going On In The World

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Staff Writer

AMERICAN public opinion seems to have come over to France's side to a considerable extent since the Ruhr was invaded.

At first the seizure appeared to be regarded very doubtfully here, evidently on the theory that it probably would disturb world business again, with everybody but France wanting it quieter. Now a great deal of sympathy is being expressed with the French policy.

This doesn't mean that American "big business" has changed its mind but only that the average individual's changed his.

It may influence the Washington administration some, and prevent Germany from getting moral support she was hoping for, but it won't help the French much.

England, which is a good deal nearer to the "situation" and has a lot more to say about it than the United States, certainly doesn't want France's Ruhr venture to succeed. True, they do say the British have been changing over to the French side, too, but the British press doesn't sound like it. The more it talks about the French course, the more pessimistic it gets.

Anyway, it's against nature. England is always, not perhaps the open enemy of the strongest continental European nation, but at least opposed to it. It's been the same ever since she became a first class power—against Spain, against France, against Russia, against Germany, in turn. Now it's France again.

Factions Clash In Bavaria; Thirty Persons Wounded

BERLIN, March 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Thirty persons have been wounded in a clash between Bavarian nationalists and communists at Augsburg, in Bavaria, 35 miles northwest of Munich, says the Central News.

Masqueraded As A Man

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Miss Jeanette Dickson, aged 20, was released by police today after she had promised to quit masquerading as a man and to give up the job as a steel mill laborer, which she held for several weeks until her disguise was penetrated.

"I could make more money as a man than as a woman," Miss Dickson said, "and I needed the money."

Free Speech Meet Planned

CHARLESTON, W. VA., March 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Use of private property for the "free speech" meeting the American civil liberties union is planning to stage in Logan tomorrow has been offered by the owner and may be accepted if no other meeting place is available, claims Garitz, representative of the union, said here today.

Mr. Garitz expressed surprise at the statement issued at Logan last night by Sheriff Dou Chaffin of Logan county, declaring "they can meet out in front of the court house and on the steps if they want to."

In a telephone conversation yesterday afternoon Mr. Garitz said Sheriff Chaffin had refused that permission and publication of the statement this morning was the first indication he had that the court house steps would be available, he declared.

Kill Rum Runners

KNOXVILLE, TENN., March 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Three alleged rum runners were shot to death and a fourth seriously wounded in a pistol fight with federal officers last night near Jellico, Tenn.

W. S. Jaines, of Tazewell, prohibition agent, and leader of the posse, which closed in on the alleged runners, was seriously shot in the fight and is in a hospital here. Three other officers struck by bullets are not hurt seriously.

Capitol Jokes

BALY rises always are very proud of themselves.

Two farmers were boasting of their achievements in that particular, and one of them resolved to show up the other.

So he rose one morning about 2 o'clock, went over to his neighbor's house and knocked on the door. The neighbor's wife called out:

"Who's there?"

"It's Jim Place," replied the visitor. "I'm looking for your husband. Where is he?"

The wife scented mice.

"Why, I don't know," she answered. "I guess he's out around the farm somewhere. I haven't seen him since early this morning."

Organizer At Liberty

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Doyle Glossner, alleged Ku Klux Klan organizer, arrested yesterday on a suspicion charge, while police were investigating an alleged attack on Grover Hughes at his home here today, was at liberty. Police declared they found nothing to connect him with the alleged attack.

Habes Corpus Denied

COLUMBUS—Application of Leonard W. Whitman, alleged Cuyahoga county forger, for writ of habeas corpus, denied by Common Pleas Judge Rogers when examination showed he had failed to be paroled as he represented himself to be.

May Starve 'Em Out

NEW YORK, March 3.—(By the Associated Press)—The reestablishment of a rum fleet after several weeks of absence was reported last night. Six steamers and five schooners were the visitors.

The fuguees, however, may finally be forced to submit on their cargoes if customs officers obtain a ruling from the treasury department to stop food from being ferried to them from shore.

Officials are intent upon starving the armada if they can arrest the food purveyors as conspirators to violate the anti-smuggling and Volstead laws.

In the meantime, the consignees of the illicit cargoes, who have been replenishing their small boats and land transportation facilities while their customers consume what was delivered during the holiday rush were preparing to proceed as before.

War Vet Believed Murderers After Him

CLEVELAND, O., March 3.—Efforts of more than a score of policemen to dislodge John Weitzel, youthful world war veteran, who, laboring under the delusion that "murderers" are after him, barricaded himself in a room last night, were successful early today after every tear bomb in the city had been thrown into the house.

Weitzel, crazed by a flare back of a nervous disorder from shell shock in France, fired at every one who approached the house. His brother, Herbert, was wounded in the face. Two policemen miraculously escaped injury when bullets passed through their clothing.

The trouble started late in the evening while Weitzel was seated in the parlor of his house with his mother and 15-year-old sister. He was nervous and repeatedly pleaded with them to "come on up stairs where the murderers cannot get us."

Reinforcements were summoned. They brought tear bombs which they threw through a window. As they crashed Weitzel dashed madly up stairs. It was the first opportunity the women had to get out of the house. Weitzel barricaded himself in the upstairs room. When the officers directed their bombs into the window of that room, he kept his head out of the window and continued firing at the officers. Weitzel surrounded without a struggle when officers broke into his room and put their pistols against him.

Six Planes Hop Off

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, March 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Six giant DeHavilland planes carrying twelve officers of the air service, took off at Kelly Field shortly after 5 o'clock this morning in a flight to Porto Rico. The first ship left at 8:01 o'clock and a few moments later all were in the air. After circling over the field in close formation, they headed due south and turned toward Houston. They were flying in a twelve mile east wind.

Seek Release Of Mrs. Buzzi

NEW YORK, March 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Another attempt to force the release of Mrs. Anna Buzzi, held as a material witness in the murder of Frederick Schneider, the Bronx contractor, who was murdered last Monday, was in preparation today by her attorney, fortified by admission of the prosecution that investigation only tends to prove the woman's alibi.

From Mrs. Schneider, District Attorney Glendon had learned that Schneider was maneuvering to leave Mrs. Buzzi and re-establish his home with his wife in California, where they could start anew. On two occasions when they inadvertently met in restaurants, Mrs. Buzzi displayed vindictive antagonism to Schneider's wife. Mr. Glendon said Mrs. Schneider told him, "Once, the wife said, Mrs. Buzzi followed Mrs. Schneider outside to her automobile and stood on the running board, shouting 'vile names' until Schneider pulled her away."

Advance As Reprisal For Ruhr Sabotage

PARIS, March 3.—(By the United Press)—Announcing officially the occupation of part of Mannheim, Karlsruhe and Darmstadt today, the French government stated that thus far only the Rhine ports of the first two cities and the railroad workshops in the latter had been seized. The occupation is in reprisal for recent acts of sabotage in the Ruhr and Rhine land, the French said. The entire cities will be occupied, if sabotage continues.

FRENCH DEPORT MORE GERMANS

DUESSELDORF, March 3.—(By the Associated Press)—French troops marched into Gelsenkirchen in the Ruhr yesterday and disarmed the security police. They arrested twelve officers and 270 men of the force and deported them into interior Germany in motor trucks.

ADVANCE OUTSIDE OF MAYENCE BRIDGEHEAD

MAYENCE, March 3.—(By the Associated Press)—French troops today advanced outside the Mayence bridgehead and occupied additional small sections of German territory. The railroad repair shops were occupied by the French troops at Darmstadt which is just on the rim of the bridgehead.

The ports of Mannheim and Karlsruhe, respectively, 40 and 70 miles to the south of Mayence, further up the Rhine, also were occupied. (Karlsruhe is not immediately on the Rhine, lying about six miles to the east. The little town of Maxau, on the Rhine, where other reports say the French crossed the river, is opposite Karlsruhe and in the Karlsruhe fiscal district.)

Market News

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, March 3.—Prices continued their upward course, at the opening of today's stock market despite the usual week-end profit taking in a number of popular shares. The initial demand centered in the independent steel companies, domestic oil, food, dividend-paying railroad shares and a select assortment of specialties. Union Pacific led the advance in rails with a gain of 1 1/2 points and St. Paul-Sheffield up 2, and Bethlehem B up 1, headed the steel group. United Drug dropped 3 points and Utah fielded half point on realizing sales. Increasing interest in the rail shares was the feature of the early dealing. Baltimore and Ohio advanced 1 1/2 points and Canadian Pacific and Soo one each while Reading, New Orleans, Texas and Mexico, St. Paul preferred, North Pacific and Chicago and Northwestern each advanced half point. Express shares continued their advance of yesterday. Adams gaining a point and Wells Fargo fractionally. U. S. Steel common sold at 108 1/2, a new high for the year. Atlantic Gulf was pushed up 1 1/2 but California Petroleum dropped 2 points and Tidewater Oil 1 1/2. North American fell back 1 1/2. Stromberg Carborundum and United Retail Stores were in good demand, each gaining a point. Foreign exchanges opened firm, demand sterling selling at $1.70 1/2 and French francs at 6.10 cents.

Resumption of heavy profit taking particularly in the oil and American Can failed to halt the upward movement of today's brief but active session of the stock market. Railroad shares set the pace, virtually all the popular issues recording gains of one to three points in belated response to the exceptionally favorable character of the January statement. "Soo," Canadian Pacific and Union Pacific were leaders. The closing was irregular. Sales approximated 700,000 shares.

Chicago Grain And Provisions

CHICAGO, March 3.—With rains reported in dry districts of the winter crop territory, wheat went down in price today during the early dealing.

The market also was depressed by options which officials of a big grain company here continued to express that supplies of wheat were greatly in excess of probable demand before July 1, when the new domestic crop would begin to be available in volume.

An advance in Liverpool quotations was ignored. The opening here which ranged from 1/2 to 1 1/2 lower with May 1 1/2 to 1 1/2 1/2, and July 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 was followed by a material further setback.

Corn and oats needed with wheat. After opening 1/2 to 1/4 off May 7 1/2 to 7 1/2, the corn market underwent an additional set.

Oats started a shade to 1/4 off.

KOHLER CLAIMS HE'S THE MAN WHO SAVED CLEVELAND MONEY

CLEVELAND, O., March 3.—"Fred Kohler, Mayor,"

"That's who saved Cleveland's money and sent it to the city treasury," declared Mayor Kohler at the bi-weekly meeting of the Board of Control today.

Piqued by an intimation in a newspaper that credit should go to Finance Director Gesell and the Municipal Research Bureau, Mr. Kohler slapped "uplifters" and social workers.

"I'm the one who kept this city within its income last year, and I am going to do the same thing again this year, even if you and the members of the Municipal Research Bureau fall dead," the mayor stated.

"I did it in a way that seemed to be harsh and rather crude at times, but I did it, and the Municipal Research Bureau was of no assistance."

His remarks were caused by statements attributed to Finance Director Gesell in an address before the Bureau. Mr. Gesell was quoted to the effect that had it not been for the work of the Bureau, the city would not have lived within its income last year.

"Absolute Falsehood," he said. Mayor Kohler called the statement an "absolute falsehood," and added that Mr. Gesell and L. E. Carter, Director of the Bureau, had told him that no such words had been uttered at the meeting.

"I appreciate what every member of this board did to help me keep this city within its income," Mayor Kohler said, "but everybody knows that I was the man who did it."

"We did it by 'laying off' useless help, and Gesell and the Municipal Research Bureau had no more to do with saving that money than did Jim Holcomb (Traction Commissioner)."

"I wish to say for Mr. Gesell that I believe he is qualified to be Finance Director of Cleveland. If he is not qualified to do the work, and believe he has to depend on the Municipal Research Bureau or any other outside help, we should have a new Finance Director."

"What have you to say, Gesell?" Mr. Gesell then told Mayor Kohler that the newspapers had misquoted him. When the mayor again stated a typical Kohler demonstration of anger, Mr. Gesell reiterated that the statement, which was made at a luncheon Wednesday, was that the members of the bureau had worked with him in making up the 1922 appropriation ordinance.

Farm Bureau Meetings

Boys' and Girls' club work and the pooling of fertilizer orders will be the principal business at Farm Bureau meetings to be held at the following places next week: Monday, March 5, 7 p. m., Seaford; Tuesday, 7 p. m., Otisville; Wednesday, 7 p. m., Minford; Saturday, 7 p. m., Empire Grange Hall. The local club leaders and County Agent W. F. Gahn will discuss Boys' and Girls' club work, while the local purchasing agents will be on hand to receive orders for fertilizer. This will probably be the last opportunity for placing orders with the local men, as it is expected that all fertilizer orders will be in by March 10th.

Ohio's First "Hen House Raising"

The following is an extract from an article appearing in the columns of the "Farm News" sent out weekly from the Agricultural College of the Ohio State University to all counties in the state. "A henhouse raising," probably the first ever held in Ohio, was put on recently in Scioto county by the agricultural extension service of the Ohio State University. The plan will be used all over the state, but is an educational drive toward modern poultry housing. Twenty neighbors of E. C. Moulton, Lucasville, came to his farm early in the morning of the day set for the raising. A specialty was there from the University, with blue-prints of the latest recommended house, designed by college engineers on a multiple unit plan that easily allows additions to take care of increases in the flock. Everybody took off their coats and went to work, knocking off only for an hour at lunch, when the Moultons served an old time farm dinner. By quitting time they had the house fully up, roofed, and half boarded in. Besides, they had made according to the latest plans such as modern fittings for well housed hens as self-feeders, baffle boards, and nest rack. Completed, the house, which was made of lumber bought from an abandoned army camp, cost $400, concrete floor included. It had the shed type roof and the new type ventilator windows. Its dimensions were 40 feet long and 24 feet deep.

It is expected that when one such house is raised by a demonstration house others will go up in the neighborhood shortly afterwards.

Dress Form Meetings

Dress form demonstrations were held recently in Nile Twp., at the home of Mrs. Howard Compton and Mrs. John Cunningham, where four dress forms were made. These present were: Mrs. Howard Compton, Miss Ethel Turner, Mrs. Wm. Turner, Mrs. Orin Weaver, Mrs. Lester Williams and daughter Louisa, Mrs. L. O. Kennedy, Mrs. A. S. Wharmy, and Mrs. John Cunningham.

It is expected that as a result of these demonstrations many other forms will be made in the near future. The work is under the direction of Mrs. L. O. Kennedy.

OUR SHARE IN PORTSMOUTH'S GROWTH

The Royal Savings and Loan Company has been an influential factor in the growth of Portsmouth.

It has been directly responsible for the erection of a large number of houses. It has been the means of enabling a great number of young people to purchase their own homes, and to pay for them in a sensible, thrifty way.

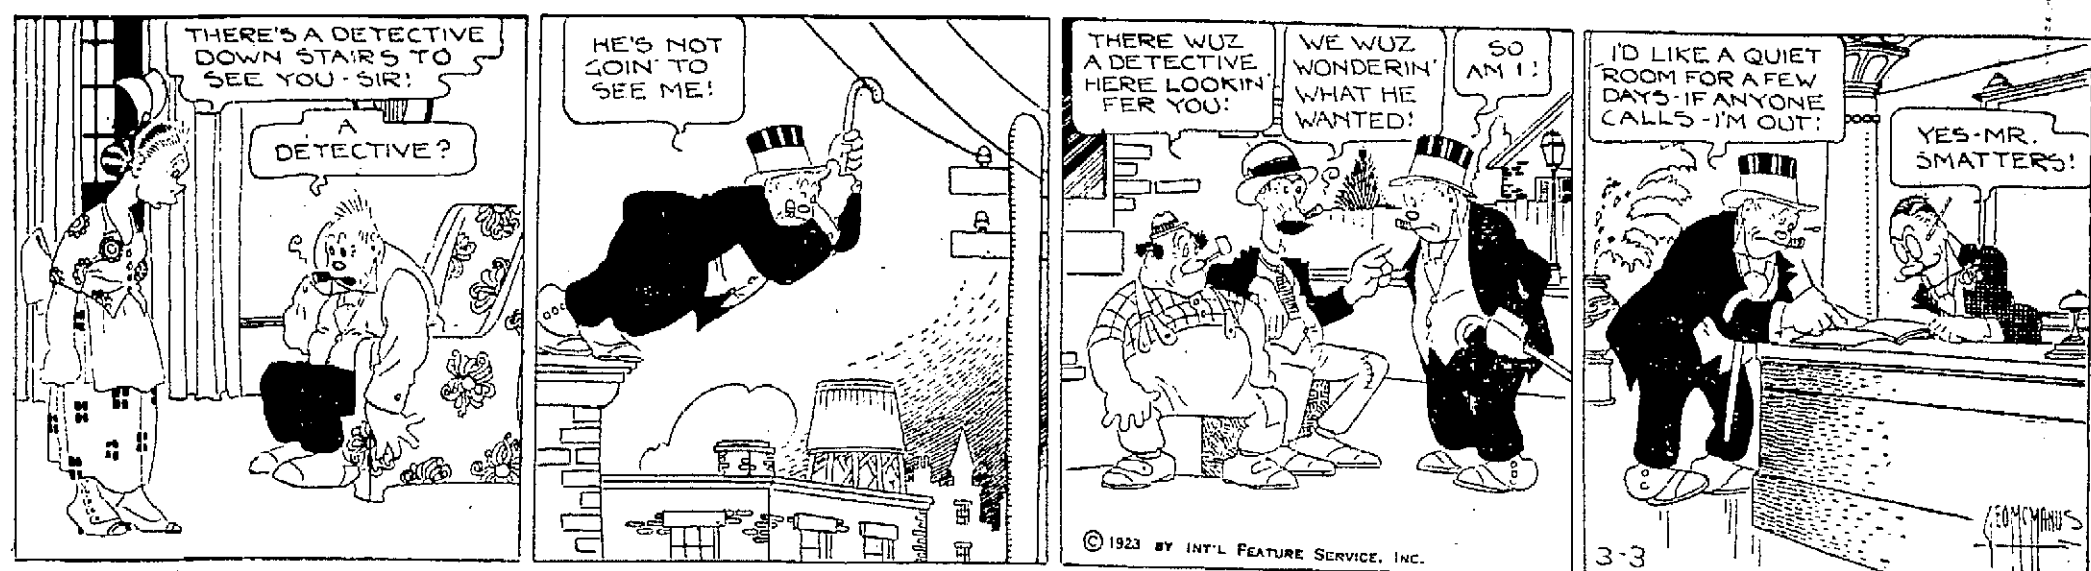

Any Institution that creates wealth in the form of houses, which enables people to purchase homes, and which encourages thrift and sane living is a real factor in a community's progress.

HUBBARD GETS OVATION

IN NEW YORK THEATRE
NEW YORK, February 13.—At the performance of the "Follies" at the New Amsterdam theatre last night, Kito Hubbard (Abe Martin) was introduced to the audience by Will Rogers as "the man from Indiana who is writing more real humor than any other writer now in the game." Rogers said that if he could write five jokes as good as those written by Hubbard, he would be ready to quit. Mr. Hubbard received an ovation. The house was crowded. Rogers remarked that only about 5 per cent. of those present were New Yorkers.

Norton Pusey and Uncle Niles Turner

A Mr. Norton Pusey, of Roundhead, Ohio, has been in this town all week trying to locate his car, an Uncle Niles Turner, hearing he was here, hunted him up. Uncle Niles is an old Roundhead boy and they had quite a talk.

"I suppose Lemuel Akey is still in the land o' the living?" the family lived in the big brick house with a slate roof on the corner of Spruce and main," said Uncle Niles.

"The Akey's is all scattered and a fillin' station o' buff brick stands where the ole home was," said Norton.

"Let me see—there was the Perley girls, Amy, Alice and Lucy. Any married a livergreen. They lived with their mother next to the Court-house and owned the only lawn mower in town, and, I believe, Mrs. Perley introduced the first haumuck."

"I never heard o' the name, but a fillin' station covers all o' that ground now."

"There was a Morgan, a Hiram Morgan, that had a grocery and filled saws in the Watson block at the corner of Chillicothe and Sandusky streets. I remember he was the only Democrat in town and we used to boycott him for a couple o' months ever four years. O' course he's dead, but the Watson block was a fine, substantial buildin'."

"Well, it's gone blooey."

"Now up?"

"None, wrecked it make way for a fillin' station."

"I was talkin' yesterday 'bout the ole Salisbury family. They lived in what I'd call a mansion and had lots o' money. The home was all full o' guests from Detroit, and Cincinnati and Cleveland, and they wuz some folks that came all the way from Boston to visit 'em. They'd eat and dance and put up an' had a fountain in the yard. We allus thought it wuz so funny they didn't have a lawn mower. I remember they didn't seem to care a d—d for flowers."

"There all dead but the oldest boy."

Dear Dolly—I am coming to you for the first time. What do you think of a young married woman who will let her husband work hard all day and then make him carry the baby one half mile for her to practice for an entertainment and then go back and cut wood until it is time for her to come home and then go and get the baby and carry it home. This man's wife spends his money as fast as he earns it. She spends all his money to get herself clothes and other things that she could do without. Now Dolly I don't think she owes anything for him or her. She should not powder and paint so much and every time his people go on a visit she is always mad. Please give me your best advice about this subject.

X. Y. Z.
I think she has an ideal husband, under perfect control. If she can make him toe the mark, or walk the plank (as you seem to think he is doing), and get away with it, you will have to give her credit for being a clever wife even if you don't like her. If the husband does not object to what she is doing, I see no reason why outsiders should interfere. If she had to use powder and paint to get her husband, I suppose she thinks she has to keep on using it to hold him. Perhaps if a few other wives would do likewise, their husbands might admire them instead of the "other woman."

Dear Dolly—I would like to ask you which horse to place my money on "Sparky" or "Sassy Susie?"

DICK
I can give you more definite information on this race if you will write me again about March 17th. In the meantime I think you would be safe in backing up "Sassy Susie." The other fellow is making too big of a noise to suit me.

Dear Dolly—Will you please give me the first name of Rodolph Valentino's wife and where she is now, and where he is and where his first wife is.

MOVIE FANNETTE
Rudy and his second wife Winifred Hudnut (Natchua Rambova) are now playing in a North Side cabaret in Chicago. They are planning to re-marry on Monday, if the court officials in Los Angeles decide to allow him a divorce from his first wife (Jean Acker). Jean is also in Chicago, playing at a downtown theatre.

Dear Dolly—I am only seventeen years old and have a very loving disposition and am considered very good looking. Now Dolly what I would like to know is why don't fellows near my own age care for my company. They will go with me once and that is the end of it. They seldom ask for a second date but they all tell me that I am a good kid. Dolly old men from thirty to forty years of age go crazy about me and stand around and watch me with admiring eyes and quite a few of them have asked me to be their first or second wife which ever it happens to be. Now Dolly I want you to tell me what to do to get rid of these greyhaired lovers and how to win some nice young man for I am cock sure I don't want to be no old man's darling.

PRETTY MAIDEN
The old men don't want you. They are just kidding you along and you don't know it. If you are a wise little girl you will let the boys alone until you get old enough to know when they are making fun of you. One date at a time is enough, and the more the merrier, if you insist on going out with boys. There is safety in numbers and if a boy would ask you for more than one date I suppose you would begin to buy your wedding outfit.

Thank You—Would advise you to ask some one who attends the meetings to tell you the name of the woman, I am not a mind reader, and I can't tell from here who she is.

Times Reader—You have been misinformed about the number of deserters, as there were only a few from the county you mentioned.

SOCIAL NEWS

Twenty-nine members and twelve visitors were present at the meeting of the Central L. T. L. held Friday evening at the home of Virginia and Frances Martin, 1722 Eighth street. An enjoyable program of songs and recitations was presented by the following children: Charles and Mildred Gutky, Howard Cooper, Raymond Davis, Frances Nickel, Frances Martin, Thelma Davis, Evelyn Stager, Mary Jane Backus, Bernice Cox, Agatha Backus and Mary Bertillon. COULD HARDLY DO ANY WORK

But Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound This Woman Feels So Well

Keeseville, N.Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for the good it has done me. I was so much troubled with female weakness I could hardly do any work. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and read it to my husband. He said, 'You had better try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,' so I bought six bottles, and by taking it I am not troubled as I was. I am gaining strength and getting fleshy. My female troubles have vanished and I have never felt so well. The Liver Pills are the best I ever took. If you think my letter will encourage other sufferers you have my permission to use it as an advertisement."—Mrs. SARAH ELAISE, Box 177, Keeseville, N.Y.

Doing the housework for the average American family is some task, and many women lose their health in so doing. If you, as a housewife, are troubled with backache, irregularities, are easily tired out and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weakness, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Let it help you.

Miss Florence Yapple arrived home yesterday from Pittsfield, Mass., where she has been a student nurse in the Bishop's Memorial Training School for Nurses, during the past year, and a half. Miss Yapple suffered a nervous breakdown following an operation for the removal of her tonsils recently and will remain at her home, 1921 Eighteenth street, until she is able to resume her work.

More Ohioans Get Plums

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—The political plum tree was given another shaking by the White House today with the result that several choice plums fell into the hands of Ohioans. The nomination of Stanley Borahwick of Columbus to be United States Marshal for the Southern Ohio District was announced. Borahwick will succeed Michael Devaney whose resignation was sent in several days ago. Borahwick has been a leader in Republican politics in Columbus and Franklin county for several years past. He is at present a deputy in the Probate Court at Columbus. The President also nominated A. E. Brunstein as District Attorney for the Northern District of Ohio.

Fills Customs Vacancies.
The two vacancies on the court of customs appeals were filled today by President Harding, who nominated Charles S. Hatfield of Ohio and Oscar E. Bland of Indiana.

Mr. Hatfield who is an attorney, lives in Bowling Green. During the Presidential campaign of 1916, he was chairman of the Republican state executive committee in Ohio. Mr. Bland is a member of the House of Representatives from the second Indiana district. He is a Republican and his home is in Linton. Last fall he was a candidate for reelection but was defeated. He is a lawyer.

On Debt Fund Board.
President Harding today completed the membership of the Foreign Debt Funding Commission as authorized by the recent changes in the law, by nominating for membership three Democrats, Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, Representative Charles A. Crisp of Georgia and former Representative Richard Olney, of Massachusetts.

Later in the day the Senate confirmed the nominations of the new Democratic member of the Debt Commission.

Nerve Shocks Cause Gas

Any form of excitement that shocks the delicate nerves of the stomach will disturb the function of that organ and produce gas. Anger, fright, grief and worry, all have an evil effect upon the digestive system, hence for want of a better term, doctors call this condition "nervous dyspepsia." Balmann's Gas Tablets are made especially for the relief of gas and stomach distress. They act in a safe natural way upon the weak stomach nerves and glands, gradually helping to restore their normal strength and activity. When this is done you will no longer suffer from gas pains around the heart, palpitation, smothering spells, rumbling noises, bloating, burning, sour taste or drowsiness after eating.

Get a dollar package of Balmann's Gas Tablets from The Fisher & Stetson Pharmacy or any good druggist. The very first dose usually gives great relief. J. Balmann, Chemist, San Francisco.—Advertisement.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Away went the Twins in the queer automobile. It was queer because it had wings instead of wheels. But then, there were queerer things than that in Mix-Up Land.

"You'll have to guide me," said the automobile to Nick, so Nick sat behind the big wheel and turned it this way and that, while Nancy sat beside him.

"Now be careful!" warned the automobile, "and watch where you are going. All sorts of things stick up in the air in Mix-Up Land."

"Oh, they do everywhere," said Nancy. "At home Daddy has to watch out for telegraph poles, and fences, and fire plugs, and thrashing machines, and all sorts of things."

"What you said just now is very funny," said the automobile. "Don't you know that in Mix-Up Land the fire plugs and telegraph poles stick down into the ground and the things above them?"

"Ten o'clock," said the automobile.

"Morning or night?"

"Morning," said Nick.

"Goodness!" sighed the clock. "Now I'll have to turn myself back twelve hours!"

"OLIVER TWIST"

BY ELTON

Dear Dolly—I live away back in Kentucky and I want some of your advice. Dolly I would like for you to tell me what the funny noises are that I hear in my house all the time. They sound like tin cans and they can be heard at different times and in different rooms. There is nothing visible to cause the noise and I am at a loss to know what it is. If you can tell me I sure will appreciate the information.

KENTUCKY READER

I suppose you think your house is "haunted." The quickest way to get your mind at ease is to find out what is making the funny noise. If your imagination is not working over time, then it is something else, and I sure would find out what that something else is before another day rolled around. If the noise sounds like tin cans rattling, get busy and look for tin cans, buckets, etc., that might be hanging around and blow together by the wind. If you have a tin roof examine that and see that there are no loose parts that might rattle. Go where you hear the noise and stop, look and listen and I think you will find that some very simple thing is causing you all that worry about the funny noise. If you discover what it is, write and tell us about it.

Why Canned Goods Retain Vitamins

It is said that the vitamins in their prime are richest in vitamins than those which are left to rot around for ripening purposes or are held over for later sale. Therefore, the interesting argument is advanced that canned goods which must necessarily be packed immediately after ripening, contain considerably more vitamins than the partially ripe fresh foods. For instance, it has been shown that ripe tomatoes are richer in Vitamin C than partially ripe tomatoes.

"One should infer that raw fresh foods should be dispensed with in the normal human diet," says Dr. Kohnman, an authority on dietetics. This would be contrary to the universal belief among physiologists and students of nutrition. These foods which can be eaten raw should always be so eaten as far as possible, when they can be obtained in the fresh state at reasonable cost. When they are out of season, inconvenient, or uneconomical, their place can well be taken by canned products, as evidence shows that canned foods are as nutritious as ordinary cooked foods."

Dr. Kohnman said in conclusion: "A consideration of all the recent experimental evidence convinces one that it is possible to select a diet entirely of canned foods which is complete and adequate for long continued nutrition: a diet in which all the known vitamins are represented in sufficient amounts having such a variety of proteins that no amino acid will be deficient, and supplying all the necessary mineral salts."

Canned Goods Week opened today and continues all next week.

SOCIETY

The postponed meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the Franklin Avenue M. E. Church, which was to have been held last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Margaret Winters, on Eighth street, will be held at the home of Mrs. Winters on Monday afternoon at two o'clock. The postponed business will be the Mrs. Clara Bernhardt, Mrs. Andrew Resinger and Mrs. Mary Hill.

Friends of Mrs. Sara Little, of Third street, who underwent a serious operation at Hopstead Hospital Friday, will be glad to know that she was recovering comfortably today.

The condition of Miss Edith Hudson, society editor of the Morning Sun, who is confined to her room, 533 Second street, with the grip remains about the same.

Mrs. Ollie Adams, of 1120 Lawson street, is the new collector for the Peers City Lodge, Ladies Society, B. of L. F. and E. succeeding Mrs. Ruth Thompson, of Mahert Road, who recently resigned. All members are urged to have their dues paid by Monday, March 5th.

Members of the D. T. O. Club and a few friends, partook of the delightful hospitality of Mrs. Gus Putnam, of Serengeti street, Friday evening. Several hours were whittled away over needle work and five hundred, with a delicious salad course in conclusion. Those in attendance were Mrs. Ralph Brandel, Mrs. Charles B. Hoyer, Mrs. Arthur Kuehlman, Mrs. Richard Barber, Mrs. Frank Bates, Misses Selma Lindemeyer, Helen T. Allice Maiter, Eibel Knoebel and Marjorie Torges, of the club members.

The guests included Miss Estella Kuehlman, Miss Lora Brownell, Misses Esther and Martha Morley. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Alice Maiter on Monday evening, March 19th.

RIVER NEWS

The crest of the present rise of the Ohio river was passing Portsmouth Saturday and the stream will be on a stand tonight and the water will start dropping back Sunday. Local river men predicted today. The river registered a stage of 29.6 feet here this morning.

The General Work cleared this point at 9 a. m. bound for Pittsburgh and the General Crowder is due to pass down Sunday enroute from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati.

Put Court Bill On Shelf

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(By the Associated Press)—The administration plan for American participation in the international court organized by the League of Nations was finally put on the shelf for this session of congress by the senate today when it voted 49 to 24, against proceeding with consideration of the resolution of Senator King, Democrat, Utah, proposing to grant the president the necessary authority.

The vote presented an almost straight party line up, all of the Republicans except Senator Norbeck, of South Dakota, voting against considering the King Resolution.

Wedding Follows Greenwich Village Romance

Mrs. John Weeks Seriously Burned

When the dress worn by Mrs. John Weeks of 1300 Chalkbrook street, caught fire this morning from a gas stove she had just lighted in her bedroom, she faced death in terrible form until her daughter, Mrs. Ollie Weber, came to her rescue. Mrs. Weber, grabbing a blanket off a bed wrapped her mother in it and smothered the flames, but not before Mrs. Weeks was severely burned about the face, hands and arms, the flames leaping over her head before they were extinguished. In addition to the burns she is suffering from shock and her condition is serious.

Mondell Is Appointed To Finance Board

Representative Frank W. Mondell, Republican, of Wyoming, former majority leader in the House, defeated at the last election, has been appointed Director of the War Finance Corporation by President Harding. The post pays $12,000 a year, and Mondell will hold it until May 17, 1923. He had been offered his choice—this job, that of Ambassador to Japan, or Governor of Portland.

Fire Damages Auto

Fire of unknown origin damaged a touring car belonging to James Lewis, 324 Roosevelt Court, shortly after five o'clock Saturday morning. The equipment from two fire stations responded to a call from box 63 and extinguished the flames but not before the top and upholstery had been burned away. It is thought the blaze was caused by the careless throwing of a lighted cigar or cigar in the car.

Admits Possession Of Rings; Jones Denies Stealing Them

Charles Johnson, 27, and William Jones, 18, negroes, charged with grand larceny in connection with the alleged theft of three rings valued at $43.75 from the Apol jewelry store on Gallia street, Friday noon, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in Municipal court Saturday and the accused were ordered held for preliminary examination Monday.

A. W. Apol, jeweler, was in court and identified three of eight rings found in possession of Jones, when arrested by the police, as having been stolen from his store.

Johnson, who is represented by Attorney J. Alden Staker, disclaimed all knowledge of the theft of the rings while Jones admitted possession of the rubies deniers the theft. Their companion, Harry Gilmore, is being held for further investigation.

"Not Tonight Dearie" Full Of Comedy

After tonight's performance of "The Storm" the Jack Ball players will inaugurate a week of laughter and fun at the Sun. For Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the management will present the comedy of laughter entitled "Not Tonight Dearie," which is now being played by every stock company in the country with phenomenal success. After its Broadway run it has been released for stock production and the Jack Ball company is the first to secure it in the state of Ohio.

"Not Tonight Dearie" aims to amuse. It does this through a series of perfectly natural events that lead up into equally natural complications that are plots of laughter. Tickets for "Not Tonight Dearie" can be secured at the box office of the Sun Theatre or by ordering by telephone, Phone 338.

Fail To Locate Bloomfield Who Faces Assault Charge

Sheriff Harry M. Dunham and Deputy Carl Schneider responded to a call to Junior Furnace, Green township, and spent several hours there Friday night in a vain effort to apprehend Carl Bloomfield, for assault and battery upon N. B. Carter.

The alleged assault occurred late yesterday afternoon when Bloomfield, as the result of an old grudge, the investigation of the officers indicated, attacked Carter with a club while the latter was in his own barnyard engaged in milking a cow. It is claimed that Bloomfield after striking Carter over the head a number of times with the club inflicting several scalp wounds, fled and kept under cover while the officers were in that vicinity. Carter's wounds were treated by Dr. K. N. Reichelbacher, of Wheelersburg.

Deputy Sheriff Carter and Schneider hurried to Junior Furnace Saturday morning on learning that Bloomfield had returned, armed himself with a gun and threatened to go on the war path again, the officers say. They returned empty-handed late this afternoon, the fugitive having left the community before their arrival and they were unable to get any trace of him, they reported.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS FOR LUCASVILLE BANK OPENED; MUCH STOCK IS SOLD

Subscription books for the Lucasville bank were opened yesterday at a meeting of the incorporators and it was decided to sell 250 one hundred dollar shares of stock at $120 per share which will net $30,000. This would provide the bank with a capital of $25,000 with a $5,000 surplus. Forty shares were subscribed for yesterday at the meeting of incorporators. No difficulty is anticipated in disposing of the stock as a number of people in Portsmouth have signified their intention of purchasing shares. The incorporators expect the stock to be sold in ten days after which the directors will be elected. After directors are chosen they will select the site for the bank in the village. There are several available for a new building should one be erected while there are one or two buildings which could easily be renovated into a bank room.

Next Week Is Dress-Up-Week

Spring Dress-Up Week in Portsmouth will be observed from Tuesday, March 6, to Saturday night, March 10. Merchants are busy getting out their newest stocks, while window dressers are busy preparing their decorations. The windows of the different retail stores will be draped next Monday, while the decorators are busy putting in displays and they will remain that way until Tuesday evening, when Dress-Up Week will officially be opened.

John P. Baze Sues Divorce

John Phillip Baze charges with himself in his suit for divorce and custody of their two children, a girl of eight years and an adopted son, aged 13 years, instituted in Common Pleas court Saturday against Lucille Baze, now living in Cincinnati, whom he married in June 1914.

In his petition filed through Attorneys Miller and Seal the plaintiff says that the defendant, without cause, left him in July 1918, and in disregard of her marital duties has ever since been willfully absent. He further claims that for many years the defendant has been addicted to the morphine and drug habit and says that she became such a victim of the habit that she used the money sent to her for the support of the children to their neglect. Baze asserts that he has been compelled, by reason of their want of care to bring the children to Portsmouth in order that they be properly cared for and he asks that the defendant be enjoined from interfering with him in their custody.

Two Released On Parole

Charles James, 30, West Side farmer, and Noah Murphy, 29, were released from the county jail Friday on parole under the usual condition to pay fines assessed against them in monthly installments and sent to jail in his conviction in Probate court of a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a West Side girl named Croft and Murphy was in custody for non-payment of a fine assessed against him on a liquor charge.

Noel Adjudged Insane

At an inquest held in Probate court Saturday Charles E. Noel, 32, Carey's Run farmer, was adjudged insane and Judge Gilliland ordered him committed to the Athens state hospital. He will be taken to the institution Monday.

Made Wards of Court

Walter Smith, 15, Lawrence Nichols, 15, and Homer Sheppard 12, were adjudged delinquents at a hearing in juvenile court Saturday and they were made wards of the court by Judge Gilliland.

The youths are students at the Upper Dry Run school, Washington township, and they were brought into court on complaints filed by Bert George, a member of the township school board. The hearing disclosed that the youths had destroyed the teacher, destroyed school property, and were generally incorrigible. The boys were lectured by the court and warned to watch their future conduct.

Sue For Commission On Land Deal

Chester Wallace and Edward Long do not business as the Wallace-Long Realty company, brought suit in Common Pleas court Saturday, suing through Attorney Joseph T. Mickelthwait, seeking to recover the sum of $875 which they claim is due them from R. Stanley Frichard and Walter W. Bauer as a commission on the sale of certain real estate situated in the vicinity of Gallia and Bond streets.

In their petition the plaintiff company says that on February 19, 1922, it agreed with the defendant to procure a purchaser for the premises in question at fixed price of $25,000 and then claim that two days later a purchaser was found and the property was sold.

Increasing Interest Marks The Anderson Revival

Sermon To Young People Given Last Night, Expecting A Big Audience Tonight

(By E. L. SCHUSKY.)

Friday night was Young People's night at the New Crusade revival meeting and it was mainly a theme for them that Evangelist George Wood Anderson chose when he decided that his subject should be "The Awakening of Conscience," in which he pictured most strikingly the importance of young people choosing wisely when the necessity presented itself. It would have been hard to find a more appropriate and fitting subject for a young people's meeting, although the lesson was one that could be taken home by the elders as well as the boys and girls to whom Dr. Anderson directed his remarks. Every hope of the general committee in charge of the revival is being realized as far as attendance is concerned. The crowd is getting larger each night which means that interest in the campaign is on the increase. Tonight, with the service starting at the usual hour of 7 o'clock, Dr. Anderson will have for his subject, "Annals and Saphira and Some Other Lies," while Sunday afternoon there will be a meeting for men only when the Evangelist will use for his subject, "Male and Female."

Announcement was also made last night that a special meeting for high school boys and girls would be held next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, instead of on Wednesday, as previously announced. Mrs. Anderson will speak to the girls while Song Leader Jenkins will be in charge of the boys' conference. The big Tabernacle is expected to be filled to overflowing Sunday night when Rev. Anderson will have one of his best sermons of the campaign.

Last night Dr. Anderson took for his text Mark 6:16. "But when Herod heard thereof, he said, it is John, whom I beheaded; he is risen from the dead." The story of the sermon dealt with the appearance before King Herod of Salome, the daughter of Herodias, and a dancing girl, who pleased King Herod so that he said to her, "Ask of me whatever thou wilt, and I will give it thee, even unto the half of my kingdom." There was a mighty crowd and all wished that she would choose wisely. All thought of the many fine things that she could ask, travel, education, fortune or something that would win for her a place in the Christian world. But it was a shock and surprise to the crowd when the girl who had asked of her mother as to what gift she should demand, asked for the head of John the Baptist, who had been thrown into prison after a quarrel with Herodias, wife of Philip, and brother of Herod.

The evangelist also pictured how King Herod had at one time entertained John the Baptist, most reverently and had put much faith in him and how now he was called upon to take the life of this friend just to make good a foolish promise. With this story Dr. Anderson pointed out to the young folks how today there are persons who are giving all of their time in an effort to direct them along the pathway of sin, while there are other opportunities offered them all the time to stay in the pathway of righteousness. He urged all to slay the person who is always endeavoring to lead them into the devil's pathway.

In this connection the evangelist spoke of the commercialized amusement of today and how the owners of such places of entertainment were not giving a care as to the soul of their patrons, but were working for the almighty dollar and gain. He said that such amusement places are feeding upon the morals of young men and women.

"Today we are in the midst of an epidemic of I believe and I don't believe," said the evangelist, continued by saying: "You don't have to believe in hell to go there. Just keep on going the way you have and you will get there. Then you will have time to change your mind, but it will be of no use. You don't have to believe in the Bible. You don't have to believe in anything when you do as you want to. You don't have to be a learned person to sin, for the ignorant can sin as well as the college graduate can sin successfully."

"Right is right, and wrong is wrong, no matter if you believe that wrong is right, and right is wrong, for right does not change matters a bit, for right is always right and wrong is always wrong and no amount of belief can change it," said the speaker, who continued his illustration by speaking of the man, woman or child who says that he had to do it because the other fellows were doing it, and the woman who has been following the path of a Christ, and then strays away, and says that she had to do it because she was like the other and the rest of the women were doing it. "You don't have to sin if you don't want to, and the people on earth can not make you sin if you make up your mind that you are going to stay with God," said Dr. Anderson. "It is a hard fight to go against the crowd, but that is the very reason boys and girls should shun evil companions who make the fight so much harder," he declared. "It is all nonsense, pure and simple, when the argument is made to do it for you do not do a thing unless you want to," said Dr. Anderson.

Sparks From The Anvil Of George Wood Anderson

There are some people who spend their entire time trying to destroy your soul to get gain. Those who have fallen in sin are anxious that you avoid the mistakes they have made. You are at the cross-roads. If you choose wrong you may never come back.

There are hundreds of good people all over this city who are praying that you make good.

No drunkard wants his boys to make the same mistake he has.

Hundreds of opportunities are before you—what will you do.

You can't expect much from the girl whose mother trains her feet at the expense of her head.

Wrong is wrong and right is right no matter what you believe.

No man sins unless he wants to. Most of them try to blame some one else.

Heredit is what a man blames his parents for, environment is what he blames his wife and children for.

There are people right here in Portsmouth who are trembling lest they be exposed within a week.

Read Dr. Anderson's sermon, Haight's story of the meeting and Sheridan's special article on Page 2.

but stood pale and astounded like one stunned by a heavy blow. What was the matter? It was not the thought of murder, for he had reached his throne on the prostrate forms of those whom he had slain. He was stunned by the mentioning of that name—John the Baptist.

Some months before, all Galilee and Judea were astonished at the fearless preaching of a great rugged stalwart son of the wilderness. Among the ones that flocked to hear him was Herod, who had become so enamored with his uncompromising utterances that he had invited John to his palace. Leaving his humble fare of leavened and wild honey, the great preacher became an honored guest at the king's table. The best hours of Herod's life were those spent in the evening with John the Baptist discussing the things pertaining to God.

But he who preached justice on the river bank must preach righteousness in the king's palace, so when John the Baptist saw one sitting on the throne beside the ruler, he exclaimed: "It is not lawful for you to have her." From then on the woman plotted his destruction and with this in mind she had trained her daughter to dance. And staged the birthday celebration. Herod winced under the woman, but his drunken brain refused to aid him and helplessly he gave the order for the prophet's death. In a few minutes the foolish girl received a charger of gold upon which rested the blood-stained head of John.

Weeks passed. The lights of festivity had gone out and the giddy girl had sought other fields of conquest, but the evil woman was beside him on the throne. Knocking messengers announced the coming of a new religious leader, who stirred the nation with his gospel of uncompromising goodness. Leaping to his feet, Herod exclaimed: "I know who it is; it is John the Baptist, whom I beheaded." He is risen from the dead.

Unbelief Meets Defeat. Behold how, the presence of Jesus, unbelief and misbelief go down in defeat. Herod was a Sadducee and the leading tenet of that faith was that there could be no resurrection from death. To this belief Herod was fixed and if he and John ever differed in argument it was likely on this, as Herod firmly asserted "there can be no resurrection of the dead." But when Jesus comes, his old teachings and dogmas are thrown to the wind and he cries out: "It is John the Baptist whom I beheaded. He is risen from the dead."

Any theory is good enough to sin by. You say, "I do not believe, in hell." You do not have to believe in hell to go there. You say, "I do not believe that Jesus is the son of God." You do not have to believe in Jesus to live a life of sin, dishonesty or impurity. You may believe what you please about the Bible, about the church, about Christ, about God, about heaven, about hell and about the vast eternities toward which you are journeying and while you are living your sinful life your theory may be a wonderful comfort and consolation to your mind. Your theory may be an anesthetic to deaden conscience; and you may be perfectly satisfied with your theory, but if your life is not right with God the hour will come when you will find your beliefs as false as the things they are.

"There is no resurrection," said the king, when he murdered John, "but when Christ comes and conscience is awakened, he cries out: 'John the Baptist is risen from the dead.' You cannot get away from the fact of God in your daily life. Killing one prophet makes room for another. What you think doesn't change facts. Your private belief about right and wrong, good and bad, God and humanity will be swept away when you stand in the presence of Christ. In his presence, murder is murder, and never expiation."

All Arguments Destroyed. Behold how the coming of Christ destroys all arguments about being the victim of environment. The small boy when asked what was the difference between heredit and environment responded: "Heredit is what a man blames his father and mother for; environment is what a man blames his wife and children for." If anyone could have accused his conduct on the ground of being a victim of circumstances Herod was

Dr. Anderson Shows Rare Ability In Painting Word Picture, Says Sheridan

(By F. W. SHERIDAN)

Pounding on the green plush pulpit cover with his trusty right that reminded me of those motor driven rivet machines used in the erection of Scitoville bridge, Dr. George Wood Anderson drove home his message on the awfulness of sin before a packed house, last night, sledging his way into the hearts of those young folks who were the special guests of the New Crusade at the big garage on Gallia street. Incidentally, the evangelist who toiled through the super-heated atmosphere with the energy of a piece-worker, took occasion to pay his respects to those folk who follow the crowd, regardless of consequences—who are putty in the hands of their friends and whose lives are moulded into worthlessness because they didn't have the manhood or the womanhood to take a stand for what they knew to be right. He sounded a warning, flinging a challenge with the deftness of a cow-puncher as he lassoes a branded steer at a rodeo, and the young folks held on to every word—not only the young, but the middle-aged, and those whose locks have been turned into silver by the hand of time.

Dr. Anderson seemed to take on new life the further he went, and while his language was plain and powerful, he coached his message into such interesting packages, that those who heard had no trouble whatsoever in carrying home with them enough food to feed their reflective minds until the next eclipse of the moon.

That the meetings are gaining in momentum—that the swing is all up Gallia street, was shown by the great crowd of last night. Every seat in the "amen" corner was taken—every bench was crowded with the exception of a row of half-dozen in the south-east corner of the big room—let's call it an auditorium—it sounds more prosaic. As early as 6:30 there were more than a thousand people there—they came to get choice seats. Old men and women crowd up toward the front for they don't want to miss a word. Some good sister or cruel hearted brother had even appropriated my chair up there in the king row, but the thoughtful Mr. Ackley had secreted one of those close-up underneath the big piano, so I didn't have to sit among the sweet voiced sopranos, but right there beside that library table whose varnish has seen better days and at the end of the crusade will have to be done over in jup-a-lac. Yes, brethren, the crowds are coming—the meetings are growing in interest, and the attention is wonderful, only exceeded by the enthusiasm that one feels on every hand. According to Dr. Anderson, he was never in a meeting that he considered more promising. "It's great," said he at the close, "the best I have ever seen—we are going to make history in this splendid town."

He was ringing wet with perspiration at the close of his tirade against sin, last night, and he must have felt miserable when he donned that big heavy overcoat. But it is very essential that he take care of his health and keep in prime condition for the daily tasks he faces, for there is no question he uses up as much energy in one of his sermons as a high-class pitcher in a world's series. Dr. Anderson knows there is no relief harder should he be knocked out—he might call upon his chorister, Walter Jenkins, but he doesn't know how long the Portland, Oregon, star would last—hence he takes no chances. And I am not casting any reflections upon the oratorical ability of W. J. For if there is any one man in that big throng who can inspire enthusiasm

It is the active soloist with the deep rich baritone—a glutton for work, but who makes everybody help in the good cause. He had 'em all singing last night—as usual—more power to Jenkins. Some of these days I'll say as much for B. D. Ackley—for Ackley and I are old-time friends, and we belong to the same lodge, glory be.

Dr. Anderson told the story of King Herod—how that weak monarch succumbed to the smiles and the wiles of a pretty woman. The old King had a weakness for the fair sex, and when the pretty girl who danced for him asked for the head of John the Baptist, the inflamed brain of the king had it brought in on a gold charger. It was a powerful arraignment of the king—whose only redeeming characteristic was that he did not offer an alibi—how different from many men of the twentieth century. He painted a picture that was colorful and yet ghastly, one that stood out in bold relief, but which portrayed hideousness. The evangelist called upon the old and young to check-rein themselves, and to save themselves from the punishment of remorse. All in all, his sermon was one of the best of the crusade—it was a clincher as well as a thriller.

Takes Auto And Money

CLEVELAND, O., March 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Police in nearby cities today were asked to watch for a bandit who late last night robbed Earl Hineske, of his automobile and money in down town Euclid avenue, and with two well-dressed girls drove away with the machine after throwing Hineske to the street.

The bandit stepped on the running board, while several pedestrians passed near by, and shoved a pistol into Hineske's ribs and demanded his money. Then, at the gunman's signal, two girls approached, stepped into the rear seat, one of them remarking: "Some choice, I'd say."

The bandit then shoved Hineske from the car and drove away.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have. Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. P. M. Edwards for 12 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, meaning them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a jaundiced, sallow, or sallow complexion, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in our system. If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, migraines, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, indigestion, bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—and then just to keep them fit. See Advertisement.

Secrecy Is Defended

NEW YORK, March 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Secrecy as to specific sums paid out by the Anti-Saloon League in the furtherance of its aims is defended in a statement issued today by representatives of the state organization in connection with the grand jury investigation of the manner in which William H. Anderson, league superintendent, expended $24,000 for publicity purposes. The board holds that the league's books are open "only to the duly accredited representatives of the churches it represents and that the details of the private business of this agency of thousands of churches are as much entitled to protection of confidence as the books and affairs of any individual church."

The visitors did not have a ghost of a chance after the locals once hit their stride. The teamwork was the best of the season and with snappy pass-work the locals worked the ball down the floor and into the basket time after time, while the visiting lassies made a vain attempt to catch up with the fleet-footed locals, who can show some real speed on the hardwood.

THE DUTY OF PORTSMOUTH

PURELY from a selfish standpoint, anyone who has any idle money, and who is the owner of any property in Portsmouth, should take stock in the housing corporation which will provide homes for the workmen who are coming here to take employment in the new Wire and Rod Mill of the Whitaker-Glessner Company. The new plant adds to the industrial development of Portsmouth. It brings new workers. It adds to the guarantee of permanent employment for the workers of the community, and it will help to make more substantial real estate values in this community, which already are resting on a solid base. Every one who owns a piece of property will feel the stimulus of this new industry, and will feel this stimulus where it counts: most in a material way, in increased value of real estate. Recognizing this we repeat that purely from a selfish standpoint stock should be purchased by all owners of local real estate.

Those living outside the city who market their produce in Portsmouth are likewise vitally interested in this project. It will mean a bigger market for what they have to sell and more prosperity for them.

And also it should be borne in mind that a city, like an individual, must either go ahead, or start down hill. True, we have the mill, whether we carry out our part of the bargain or not. But what of the future? How will the word of Portsmouth be regarded when the next big proposition comes this way? Will we continue to grow?

These are vital matters affecting the interests of every one, capitalist, merchant, laborer, and all. They must be settled in the right manner, and that means the full amount asked by the housing corporation must be raised.

It should likewise be kept in mind that no one is being asked for a donation. You are simply being asked to participate in an investment which has every chance of being a real financial success.

A COMMON SENSE AMENDMENT

IT cannot be said that there is anything of hasty action in the senate's adoption of the Norris proposal for an amendment to the federal constitution that would have a newly-chosen congress meet soon after its election and also advance the date of presidential inauguration. Chiefly the amendment is designed to remedy the situation in which a repudiated congress—a so-called "lame duck" body—can continue legislating for months and with the new congress convened for more than a year after its election. As this has been a subject of complaint practically from the beginning of our system of government the matter certainly has been thoroughly discussed. However, as the house is still to act on it, and after that, if the lower branch approves, the legislatures of 36 states, there will be ample time for further discussion of the proposed amendment from every angle.

If the change is authorized, it would mean that the newly chosen congress, elected in November, would assume office the first Monday in January and the presidential inauguration would be the third Monday in January. Under the existing arrangement, the new congress is not convened until the first Monday in December of the year following the one in which it was elected, or 13 months after its selection. The repudiated congress, however, can continue legislating for several months after its defeat, or from the first Monday of December of the year of the election to March 4 of the next year. By this time the American people ought surely to be advanced enough in self-government to make it safe to let their sentiment expressed at the polls get to work without a long delay.

A STRANGE ENDING

IT was a strange philosophy of life, of love, of happiness that prompted a recently wedded French couple to end it all in death. They did not lack money, were in perfect health, loved each other madly, were happy—so ran the note they left—therefore they determined to cross the divide. Was it distrust of the future or some strange notion that by snapping life at its happiest they could pick up the broken threads of happiness in the beyond that led them to plan the tragic ending of their drama?

Evidently the actors in this French tragedy looked through a different end of the telescope from that generally used by humans. Usually when men and women are happiest they hold life dearest. Even when days are dreary and life is burdensome, humans' hope for happiness in the future urges those who love to struggle on.

It's a sure sign of age to be able to remember the day of the five-cent nickel.

A NATION-WIDE EVIL

WHEN the news reaches London editors that Kentucky university students have been asked by their president to "check" their firearms, turning them in to the authorities and getting receipts in exchange, there will ensue some interesting comments on life and customs in wildest America. The educational leaders of Kentucky have no wish to "teach the young idea how to shoot" in this literal manner and their ban on the possession of lethal weapons is the direct result of a recent shooting tragedy in which a student and a watchman figured.

Foreign commentators will not be justified in regarding the carrying of pistols by college students as a common custom in this country, for Kentuckians are especially prone to this habit, but they are warranted in criticizing this country for permitting any person who has the price to go about with these death-dealing implements. Granting that the evil is more rife in Kentucky, the region of family feuds, and in a few other states than in the rest of the Union, the fact remains that this is about the only great civilized country where there is no general official regulation of pistol-carrying.

It is rather surprising to find some opponents of the proposal to restrict the carrying of deadly weapons appealing to the federal constitution for support. They are citing the provision that "the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed." They do not quote the significant preceding words, "A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state," which explains the reason for the guarantee. It grants no right to the private individual to go about armed.

In view of the fact that 90 per cent of the homicides in this country are committed through the use of pistols, legislative action in this matter cannot be much longer delayed.

New York=Day=By=Day

BY O. O. M. ENTIRE

NEW YORK, March 3.—The chill of Wall Street: Down where the lower tip of Manhattan island slips off into the sea and where architectural peaks leave their narrow gaping canyons there is an atmosphere of aloofness that is suffocating.

Even the sick haired young employees become human icebergs after a few months in the street. Office boys seem gripped by a strange undecurrent of doubt and suspicion that everybody feels.

Disaster appears to be lurking always around the corner. You will always find a pleasant chatting group along the bright lights of Broadway, in the quieter glitter of Fifth Avenue and even amid the squalid misery of the lower East Side—but Wall Street has no time for pleasantries.

A burly gurdy or a vagrant street singer would never think of venturing into Wall Street. The old time Wall Street dabbles who have gone on year after year seeking to pluck a fortune from the maelstrom of money will tell you that "the street" is telepathic. Thoughts fly from brain to brain.

They don't pretend to understand it. They only say they know. There is a record of 27 men, who for no reason save a static lunch, closed their desks and went up town an hour before a dynamite bomb exploded at Wall and Broad.

Blind Phil, the news reader, used to stand in front of down town Delmonico's. He was, aside from being blind, stone deaf. He knew when the market was "spotty" and when it was skyrocketing. "I can feel it," he used to say.

The regulars of Wall Street have contempt for anything short of a "killing" in the market. Most of them live frozen lives. They become human barometers, registering reactions over trivialities that the workaday world would not heed. They fear everything. A man known as "The Wolf," a illiterate and jaded bird, has thrown Wall Street into a panic of frenzy time after time.

In a little tea room she was telling some of the reasons why she did not like New York. "Why, do you know," she said, "they don't even put oysters in turkey dressing in the East?" She's right. They don't—and we of the middle and far west can understand and sympathize.

The Bachelor's Complaint

Returning home at close of day,
Who gently chides my long delay,
And by my side delights to stay?
Nobody.

Who sets for me the easy chair,
Spreads out the paper with such care
And lays my slippers ready there?
Nobody.

When plunged in deep and dire distress,
When anxious cares my heart oppress
Who whispers hope of happiness?
Nobody.

When sickness comes in sorrow's train,
And grief distracts the fevered brain,
Who sympathizes with my pain?
Nobody.

THE CONVALESCENT—BY BRIGGS

When the Cook Went

"I understand that your cook left."
"Yes," answered the housewife, who was taking account of broken china, "but not much."

Speeding His Guest

Arthur and Willie were playing noisily. Though peacefully, when Willie's mother came out to tell the visiting Arthur that he had better go home to dinner. She had just turned to re-enter the house when her off-spring, threw a stone that sent Arthur bowling in the direction of home.

"Willie," she demanded sternly, "why did you throw that stone at Arthur?"
For a moment the inopportune Willie stood abashed, watching the flight of his playmate. Then he sighed deeply. "Well," he said, "Arthur had to go home anyway."—Harper's Magazine.

Gran'maw Bentley has been married close out seventy years, and she's never seen a railroad train or had a revolver in her hands. Where Isadora Duncan got in had wuz showin' in opory houses instead of at banquets.

The Irish Are Clever

Pat was over in England working with his coat off. There were two Englishmen laboring on the same railroad, so they decided to have a joke on the Irishman. They pointed a donkey's head on the back of Pat's coat and watched to see him put it on. Pat, of course, saw the donkey's head on his coat and turning to the Englishman, said: "Which one of ye wiped yer face on my coat?"

Not a Lay Success

A young country minister, noted for his jollity, was dining at a farmhouse one Sunday, and when his plate of roast chicken was passed to him, he remarked facetiously: "Well, here's where that chicken enters the ministry."
"Hope it does better there than it did in lay work," rejoined the bright boy of the family.

Mistaken Identity

"I want to look at a pair of eyeglasses of extra magnifying power." "Yes, madam," replied the salesman: "something very strong?" "Yes, sir. While in the country I made a very painful blunder which I never want to repeat."
"Indeed! Mistook a stranger for an acquaintance?"
"No; mistook a bumblebee for a blackberry."
